

SENTIMENT OF NATION IS DIVIDED; SUSPECT TRICK BY AMERICA AND BRITAIN

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

TOKIO, July 17.—Japan today seems an empire divided on the great issues created by the summons of President Harding to a conference on disarmament and far eastern problems. One side, largely in the ranks of the bureaucrats, there is fear the proposed conference will be dominated by the Anglo-Saxons and may result in stranding Japan's political and economic development in Asia.

On the other side is a powerful liberal group which demands that Japan enter into the deliberations fearlessly, submitting her wants resolutely, combatting for them with confidence and not opposing just claims. Hagglng and bickering, however, is not the cutting edge of the sword.

NATION FACES CRISIS.
Both camps agree that Japan is facing a crisis, requiring tact and breadth of vision. Many members of the Privy Council, according to the newspaper Chugai Shogyo Shimpo, are pessimistic about the con-

LO DON, July 17.—After many years of investigation Dr. Charles Russ has proved that there is a distinct ray of force propelled from the eye in the act of vision. He also has invented an instrument that is set in motion by vision. His scientific discoveries outtrail the conjecture of fiction. On the surprisingly simple device he has invented Dr. Russ spent more than three part of the Anglo-Saxon nations, calling the conference. They argue that China doubtless will strive, with the support of England and America, for a settlement of questions in her favor, resulting in injury to Japanese interests in China. The councillors are quoted as saying that the Chinese will participate conditional on the settlement of all questions between Japan and the United States, including opening the territories in the Pacific to Orientals."

DISCUSS DELEGATES

The choice of Japan's delegation for the conference has been exercising the press, which demands the ablest representatives.

St. Mary's Blankets Added to the Blanket Sale

The St. Mary's Woolen Mills, for whose blankets Coulter's have exclusive agency in Los Angeles, are a very progressive concern.

At the beginning of every season they make up what is termed their experimental blankets, from which are later selected those that shall go into the regular line for that season.

The patterns that are not adopted are free to be sold at considerable discounts.

Our buyer, when placing his regular order with the St. Mary's Mills, secured a quantity of these, together with a number of odd lots made up in excess of special contracts, which we can sell at interestingly low prices during the July Blanket Sale.

All St. Mary's blankets are woven very wide and thoroughly shrunken. All colors are dyed in the wool; only the best grades of wool are used, and the most modern methods of producing high-grade blankets are utilized.

Therefore, when you buy a blanket bearing the St. Mary's label, you may be satisfied that you have the ideal bed covering, whether you pay full price for it, or secure it at a reduction, as you may during this sale.

Duesenberg Whirls Away From Milton's Chevrolet in Three Successive Heats at Beverly Hills

CHARLES ACCLAIMED THE CHAMPION SPEED PILOT. Automobile Races Vie With Big Airplane Show for Interest, and Sarles' Speed Wins Plaudits of Crowd.

If the automobile race out at Beverly Hills yesterday afternoon decided the champion speedway driver of America, and Bill Pickens declares it did, Roscoe Sarles is it. In three successive heats Sarles whirled around the big bowl with Tommy Milton and every time the gray-green Duesenberg crossed the tape ahead of Milton's sky-blue Chevrolet Special.

Sarles had the speed when speed counted and won the title, the plaudits of the multitude and a fat purse of ten thousand marks.

In between the three heats of the auto race interest was divided between a flock of airplanes chattering around the sky and a kid sitting on top of a fifteen-foot pole and refusing to come down. Many of the planes came down during the course of the afternoon, but the kid wouldn't.

Early in the afternoon the speedway management decided that a kid sitting on a tall pole near the track was not in keeping with the high social and financial standing of the place. A man with a large megaphone was dispatched to order the youngster down. He did so, but the kid politely refused. Then it was that the best thing to do would be to climb up and get him. But the kid didn't have any steps, and while it was perfectly apparent that the kid had reached the top, no one else could figure out how to get there. Speedway officials went into executive session, but no solution offered. As far as we know the kid was there on the pole yet. The crowd considered that the youth had won a decisive victory, and gave more of a hand than the spectators during the rest of the entertainment.

During Sarles' time for the three heats of the race was as follows: First heat, ten miles, 50.15-1.6, an average speed of 111.1 miles per hour; second heat, ten miles, 53.1-1.6, an average speed of 105.1 miles per hour; third heat, ten miles, 55.1-1.6, an average speed of 100.1 miles per hour.

By the time Sarles won the title by a flip of a coin and took a driving start in first place, Milton was in fourth place, and on the fourth lap, forged into first place, but he couldn't hold it. He was in last place, Sarles cut him off, and on a turn, slipped back into the lead. From then on, it was Sarles' race, but with Milton so close behind that the cash customers almost died every time the pair whizzed by.

The second heat was almost a foregone conclusion, as Sarles, who had a better burst of speed than Milton, was in the lead from the start. Sarles appeared to have the speed, but the crowd was not so sure. Sarles drove like a wild man and kept his distance. They crossed the finish line with Sarles in the lead, ahead of Roscoe's rear wheel. The final twenty-five mile race was a close one, but Sarles opened up a gap that was never closed and Tommy Milton dropped his head in despair. Sarles' flying Duesenberg had the best of it on speed and drive as he would, Milton's Chevrolet was a close second. The crowd was close and the crowd was on its feet all the time.

FOR AIR FORCE. Those who like airplane races had a good time yesterday. The air bill started off with a race to San Diego and return. The race was won by Frank Clark, flying a Hall-Scott biplane. The plane made the round trip in 25.15, an average speed of 111.1 miles per hour. Second place went to Cliff Dugan, flying a Hall-Scott biplane. The plane made the round trip in 26.15, an average speed of 105.1 miles per hour.

The Jennie Seramie event was a hot and thrilling affair, full of zip and vim, and won by M. J. Hupstrop in a Curtiss JN-4. The plane was a Curtiss JN-4, and the race was won by M. J. Hupstrop in a Curtiss JN-4. The plane was a Curtiss JN-4, and the race was won by M. J. Hupstrop in a Curtiss JN-4.

Wing walking, plane changing, aerial acrobatics, cranking propellers in midair, etc., all scheduled for 3:35 p.m., didn't come off until 4:30. These things must be as exciting as all-gilt-out to the folks who are doing them, but from the grand stand they are rather weak. No one was killed.

The sport plane handiicap was won by Frank Clark with Howard Peterson second. Time over nine and one-half laps of the course was 11.15.4.

The real fireworks in the airplane race was the Curtiss JN-4. Five little acrobats entered this race and they were all flown by men who knew how to fly. The winner of this event was the little Curtiss JN-4, flown by M. J. Hupstrop.

Finish of the Third Heat at Beverly Yesterday. Here we have the gray Duesenberg in front in the final go-to-it spurge of the day. George Adair is seen violently waving the checkered emblem that signifies the end of the race and the winning of ten thousand marks by Sarles—plus considerable glory, not negotiable on the money market.

TIGERS WIN THE SERIES.

Cop Tail End of Double-Header After the Ducks Pile Up Commanding Lead.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS. Vernon had an easy time winning the series just like an armless guy with cork legs would find it simple to conduct a one-man street car along our busy thoroughfares.

Somewhere in the history of the Tigers and the Braves, the game of the series, Portland piddled away a commanding lead through its Boy Scout pitchers, and Vernon won, 9 to 3. McClellan needs more pitchers, and is understood to be only a slippage, and Portland is a slippage with two in the sixth.

At this point, Bill Essick poked his new victory bonnet back in the team's face. Y. M. Murakami, editor of La Japaneze Daily News, and his assistant were in the press box scoring the game. This is the first time a game has ever been scored here in Nippon, but a lot of games have been played in that language because nobody could understand what they were all about.

DOUBLES FOR A DIME. Vernon has been using a pneumatic machine to make the batting practice. It seems to be successful, but what is really needed is a machine which will throw the ball and get a base hit by dropping a nickel in the slot. Doubles for a dime, three-baggers for a nickel, and a home run for a dime.

Spud Murphy, singled for Slim Zeider, who hit the home run. So Carl Sawyer entertained the crowd by hitting a home run. Losing a ball game and making it sound like a Fourth of July celebration is optimism of the highest order. The scores: Portland 9, Vernon 3.

LOCKER, DISABLED.

With Hym Hyatt in ruins, and Andrew D. Locker's best batting hand disabled, the Tigers are in a predicament. Locker is a pitcher, and his injury is a serious one. The Tigers are now looking for a replacement.

Prior to the game, with Hap O'Connor at the plate and Carl Sawyer on first, the Tigers were in a predicament. The game was a close one, with the Tigers leading 2 to 1 in the sixth inning.

Many of the fans were in the cream of the beauty of the game. The game was a close one, with the Tigers leading 2 to 1 in the sixth inning.
